Notice

The Editorial Board of JITSS (Journal of Innovation and Trend in Social Sciences) hereby retracts the article identified above. Following publication, the corresponding author formally informed the journal that the manuscript had been submitted to JITSS in error and that related work by the same authors had already been accepted and published elsewhere. The corresponding author subsequently requested removal of the article in order to avoid duplicate publication and potential copyright concerns.

Because the JITSS article had already been formally published, assigned a DOI, and made part of the scholarly record, the journal has processed the matter as a retraction rather than a withdrawal or silent removal. The original article remains available in the journal archive for transparency and preservation of the scholarly record, but its landing page and PDF are clearly marked RETRACTED.

Reason for retraction

Redundant/duplicate publication identified after publication, based on the corresponding author's formal notification to the journal.
